A leader is someone who changes lives, and I believe that everyone is a leader. Some people have a knack for being a leader, and can easily guide people towards a certain goal. Others find it difficult to lead people and frightening to speak to an audience. However, in the end, every individual changes lives whether they want to or not. There is no way one can go through life, meet several people, and not change lives. For example, an individual can change a life just by sharing his opinion to another person. It's as easy as that. Consequently, I want to live every day in a way that I can positively make a difference in the lives that I meet.
